TIM CORFIELD

Tim Corfield, principal partner and head of insolvency has been a licensed Insolvency Practitioner since 1989. Having obtained a degree in Law, he qualified as a Chartered Accountant with one of the leading national firms before joining Griffin & King in 1985. Tim became a partner of the firm in 1988 and specialised in advising new start business clients as well as advising established client companies.

This background has given Tim a thorough insight into the highs and lows of running a business. He is well aware of the difficulties in which businesses can find themselves. As an accountant, he has been at the sharp end of dealing with his clients' problems, constantly monitoring and advising through the good times and bad. Understanding the importance of these skills, he has built a team at Griffin & King who provide unique skills to help and turn around struggling businesses.

As a Licensed Insolvency Practitioner, Tim has a vast amount of experience in both personal and corporate insolvency and is frequently requested to write articles for the local media on debt related issues. He is a regular attendee at events around the region and manages an amateur youth football team in Stourbridge in his spare time.

"All situations require sensitive and careful handling. At Griffin & King we take time to understand the problems that people are faced with. We know that this is a traumatic time and we pride ourselves on being approachable and compassionate.

Ignoring debt does not make it disappear – the sooner you consult with an expert, the sooner you will find a solution to the problem".

The offices of Griffin & King are conveniently situated in the prestigious old Walsall School of Art building in the centre of Walsall, West Midlands. Walsall is ideally situated for access to the West Midlands and the national network of motorways.
